Areas of Research Interest

Tourism Geography with an emphasis on the Geography of Ecotourism
Feminist Geography
The Geography of Globalization
The Geography of Development

Current Project

I study the effect that gender relationships in particular ecotourism destinations in Ecuador have on the ecotourism industry at a national level. I provide evidence of the ways that the interaction of (1) local structures of gendered property rights and labor traditions and (2) urban managers' perceptions of gender can influence the path of globalization and regional development.
